

THE FUNDAY TIMES

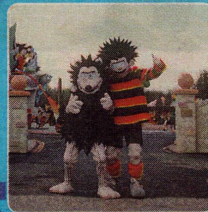

On the grid!
Join us at super Silverstone for the best guide to the British Grand Prix

Page 6

Westlife feast
We've got an extra helping of Westlife,
thanks to Disney
Channel Kids Awards

Page 9

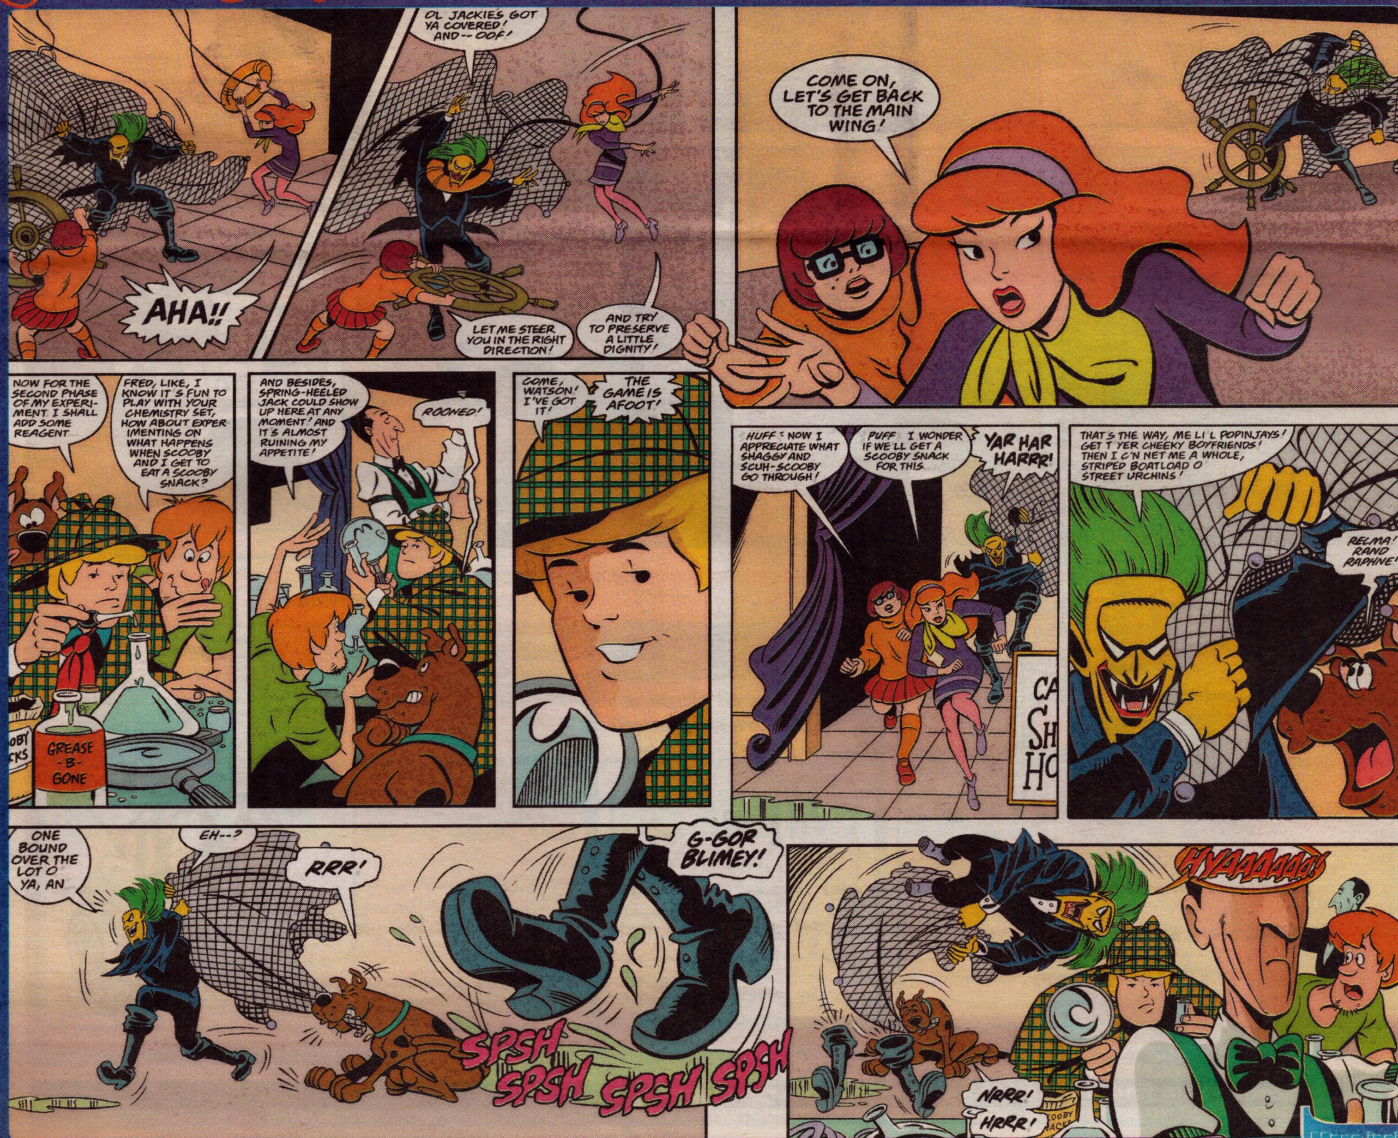

Cartoonsville
Step into the pages of The Beano at Chessington's new cartoon attraction!

Page 11

SCOOBY-DOO! in SPRING-HEELLED JACK

The story so far – Fred thinks he's Sherlock Jones, which leaves Daphne and Velma to capture Spring-heeled Jack!

SCOOBY-DOO AND ALL RELATED CHARACTERS AND ELEMENTS ARE TRADEMARKS OF HANNA-BARBERA. © 2020

f-mail

Send your letters, cartoons, jokes and drawings to: The Sunday Times, PO Box 5073, Leighton Buzzard LU7 7GX Send your e-mail to: funday.times@sunday-times.co.uk

FLASH CAMERA

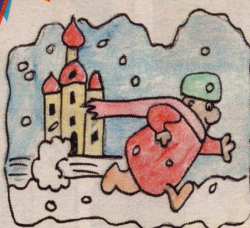

This fantastic Fujifilm Instax 100 instant camera will help you become a real super snapper! You can take fun photos of your friends and family and see the results in just seconds. The Instax 100 (£24.99) is really easy to use – just point the camera, press the button and impress everyone with your talent at taking photos! The star f-mail will get a Fujifilm Instax 100 with five packs of film. Each runner-up gets a camera and a single pack of film.

STAR

Tanya Landosborough,
Norwich

How do people in Moscow keep warm?

By Russian about!

Dear f-mail,
It's really good how Jessica Simpson chats to her fans on the internet each week, especially as most stars cannot be bothered. When you asked her if she gets too busy, Jessica said she always finds time to do it. I think other stars should do this too because their success is due to their fans. Philippa King, Romsey

Charlie Wilson,
12, Guildford

2

Scooby-Doo finds himself in a sticky situation next week!

FUN Competitions!

COMPETITION ADDRESS Send answers to all competitions to us at: The Sunday Times, PO Box 5073, Leighton Buzzard LU7 7GX Competition deadline: April 28
You can e-mail your competition answers to: fundaycompetitions@sunday-times.co.uk

We're celebrating the launch of this year's Hay Children's Festival of the Arts with a bumper stack of cool prize competitions! There are heaps of wonderful books on offer from some of this year's participating publishers. To enter, send your answers to the competition address above, marked with your name, age, address and the special word shown. Keep reading Funday for news about this year's festival and look out for more cool publishers' prizes in next week's issue!

HEAVEN SENT

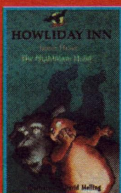

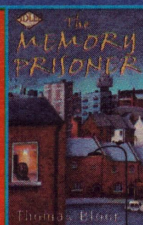

David Almond is the author of prize-winning books such as Skellig, Kit's Wilderness and Heaven Eyes. David will be appearing at this year's festival on Tuesday, May 30. Come along and hear all about David's character Skellig who loves Chinese takeaways, or the children who escape and go rafting down river in David's latest book Heaven Eyes.

One winner gets signed copies of all David's books, plus the chance to choose £500-worth of titles from the fantastic Hodder Children's Books and Hodder Wayland ranges. Ten runners-up each receive a copy of Heaven Eyes, and a book selection worth £20.

To enter, tell us what type of food David's character Skellig likes best.

Mark your entry FOOD.

POCKET FUN!

For 11 & 12 year olds!

If you're coming to the Hay Festival, don't miss our amazing Rugrats and Sabrina the Teenage Witch events. Pocket Books has an adrenaline-packed selection for everyone, featuring Sabrina, Buffy the Vampire Slayer, The Hardy Boys and Nancy Drew. Also, check out the two new Pocket Books series –

Angelwings and Roswell High.

One winner will pocket more than 70 books from the range, while 10 runners-up will each get a selection of six books from the best-selling Pocket Books series.

To enter, tell us the name of Sabrina's famous cat.

Mark your entry WITCH.

GRIPPING STUFF!

Piccadilly Press has funny, dramatic and utterly gripping books by star author Rosie Rushton (who is appearing at the festival for the first time this year), the hilarious Louise Rennison (who wrote Angus, Thongs and Full-frontal Snogging), the fabulous Adèle Geras, and many more. In fact, Piccadilly Press has books to make you laugh, cry, think and sigh.

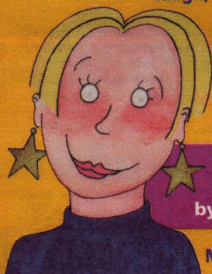

You could win a £300 selection of titles from Piccadilly's top teenage list, while 10 runners-up will each get a £20 book selection.

To enter, just name any one of Rosie Rushton's well-known books published by Piccadilly Press.

Mark your entry ROSIE.

Piccadilly Press

FEEL THE MAGIC

Think of a world like ours, but one in which magic is as common as mathematics! This is the world of Chrestomanci – the nine-lived enchanter whose job is to control all magic. There are five Chrestomanci books, which fizz with energy. Plus you can meet their author, Diana Wynne Jones, at the Hay Children's Festival!

One lucky winner will receive a signed set of the spell-binding books, plus a fab selection of CollinsChildren's books, worth £250. Ten runners-up will each receive a set of signed Chrestomanci books.

To enter, tell us how many lives Chrestomanci has.

HarperCollinsChildren'sBooks

Mark your answer MAGIC.

HORROR, SUSPENSE AND GORE!

If you like to be scared, join Point Horror Unleashed authors Celia Rees and Roger Davenport for How Much Fear Can You Stand? at Hay. Plus, there are events for everyone, whether you're into Horrible Science, gripping fantasy by Susan Price or a great read from Helen Dunmore. One horror fan will win a complete set of Point Horror and Point Horror Unleashed titles – more than 85 terrifying reads! Ten runners-up bag 10 chilling titles each from the Point Horror Unleashed series.

To enter, tell us what makes up a skeleton.

Mark your entry HORROR. SCHOLASTIC

Normal TNL competition rules apply to all Funday Times competitions

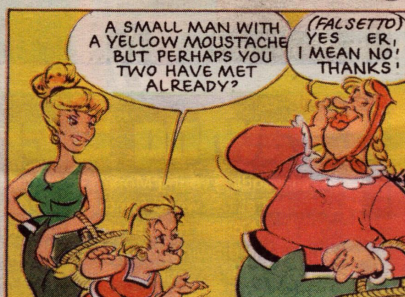

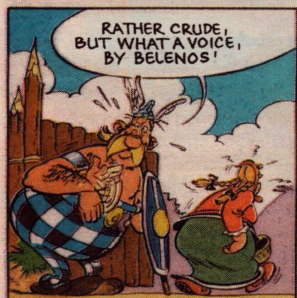

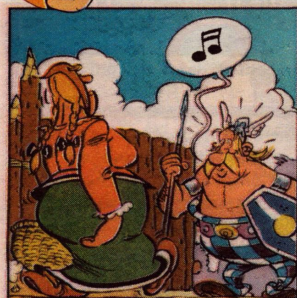

More Hay Children's Festival book competitions next week!

3

Asterix and Son

© 2000 LES ÉDITIONS ALBERT RENÉ/GOSCONNEY-JIDERZO

Continued next week!

DAGSY DOG

Woof, woof! Got any pet problems? Then get in touch with me at the address below!

My rabbit doesn't eat lettuce or carrots. What else can I feed her so she gets a balanced diet? I'm worried that she is not eating enough fruit and vegetables.

Nat Stewart, Aylesbury

You're right to make sure your rabbit has a balanced diet. Hay can provide enough fibre to keep her teeth and gums healthy. You could also feed her things like beet tops, dandelion greens, parsley and small bits of broccoli or apples. Lots of rabbits are also fed on pellet rations.

With Easter bunnies bouncing around - here's a rabbit run down! Rabbits can live for up to eight years and are very sociable creatures, so you should give them as much love and attention as you can. The hutch should be large enough for your rabbit to exercise, sleep and go to the toilet. They have to be fed twice a day with hay, fresh food and dry concentrated food, plus plenty of clean drinking water.

Advice by Blue Cross vet Catherine Morganti

If you have a question for me or you want to send in a cool fact, write to:
The Sunday Times, Dagsy Dog,
PO Box 495, London E1 9XW
You can now e-mail your pet problems to dagsy.dog@sunday-times.co.uk

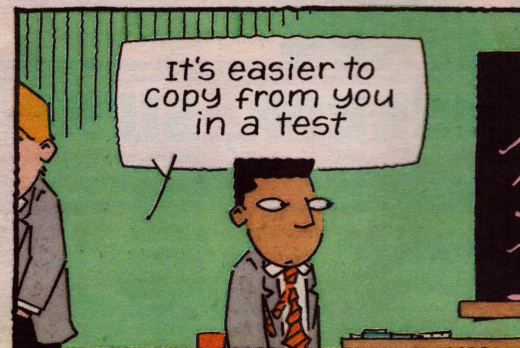

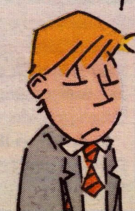

The Blue Cross, one of Britain's oldest animal welfare charities, has four animal hospitals, 11 adoption centres, and two equine centres. Last year the charity found homes for more than 9,000 animals and treated around 60,000 pets at its hospitals.

Jarvis

Try to make it bigger

4

Tony and Jarvis are looking forward to the Easter break!

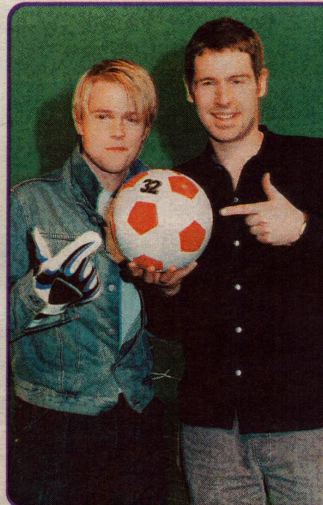

news

Just get cracking!

There are so many Easter eggs in the shops that you're spoilt for choice, so we've been testing a few to help you decide! The hilarious Bunnies on Bikes (above) from Whittard of Chelsea will deliver a classy egg with chocolate-coated coffee beans in London. They're an ideal present for your mum or dad. You can order your eggs for postal delivery anywhere in the country at www.whittard.com

● If you're bored with oval eggs then Cadbury's Squegg is a very tasty alternative and another Funday fave is the Walking With Dinosaurs egg with a baby dinosaur inside. Plus, The Children's Society will get 25p for every Oscar Rabbit that Thorntons sells, so you're helping a good cause while you scoff!

Westlife United

Nicky from chart-topping Westlife puts his goal-keeping reflexes to the test on Football Fever, the new BBC1 soccer series starting on April 23 at 9.30am. Nicky, pictured here with the show's presenter Matt Smith, reveals what life was like as a reserve goalie with Leeds United before he was lured away by the promise of pop stardom. Mind you, a record-breaking debut of five number one hits proves he's swapped one premier team for another!

Crazy Crooner

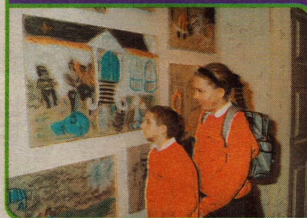

Milan's tough cops, who are used to dealing with hardened criminals, met their match with Massimo Bacchetti's voice! He was arrested for disturbing the peace, after neighbours complained about his woeful warbling. The crazy crooner carried on singing at the police station and every quaver left officers quivering. In fact it became so unbearable, they gave up and released him after just one hour of his dire ditties!

Drawing a crowd

A class of budding young Monets are having their works of art exhibited at the world-famous Royal Academy. Figure sketches by 14 pupils from Beam Primary School in Dagenham are among the drawings displayed at the academy's Alive exhibition, which is on until May 12. The young artists even got to show their handiwork to ex-art students Graham Coxon and Alex James of the rock group Blur.

"I like drawing and this is really different. It's great to see our drawings in an exhibition - it makes you feel important," says 10-year-old Nicole Agonbar. Headteacher Graeme Bradbury is equally delighted. "I'm really proud of them," he says. "Showing your works of art at somewhere like the Royal Academy is a dream come true."

Future reality

You could soon play the ultimate computer game on this amazing high-tech simulator. The Hemispherium at Teeside University is the biggest virtual reality simulator of its kind in the world, boasting a six-metre dome and seven synchronised projectors. The screen gives 180-degree vision and uses an amazing 9m pixels - the tiny dots of light that make a picture - to create the images. In comparison, your PC monitor uses a mere 300,000! That's not all. A hydraulic chair moves in any direction and all-round sound helps the virtual world come to life for the 'pilot' and up to 22 observers. So far it's been used for simulated flights of the new Euro Fighter airplane plus virtual tours of buildings that are still only at the planning stage!

"To give you an idea of what it's like, imagine being inside a giant virtual reality headset," says Nigel Rodwell, the university's virtual reality expert. "The image stretches whatever way you look and the graphics are incredibly sharp. You get the sensation that you really are flying the plane."

Nigel predicts that we could all have a Hemispherium of our own in less than 10 years. "There'll be a dome in the corner of your room and it will use a laser projector to create the images. You'll be able to watch TV or play games with amazing graphics and surf the net in a whole new way - it will feel like you're entering the website!"

BURNING RUBBER!

The Formula One World Championship races into the UK next weekend, when the British Grand Prix is held at Silverstone. Paul Wray gears up for the fastest and most exhilarating event in the sporting calendar!

British Grand Prix

The 34th British Grand Prix to be held at Silverstone takes place next weekend. On Friday and Saturday, qualifying sessions take place. Drivers try to record the fastest lap they can, to gain a good position on the starting grid for the actual race on Sunday. The fastest qualifier will start in pole position and the drivers will then race more than 60 laps, covering a total of 308km!

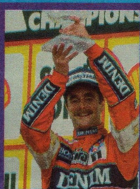

FAN-TASTIC!

Formula One racing has never been more popular! The British Grand Prix will attract more than 250,000 spectators and 350m people around the world will watch it on TV. The Silverstone crowd is one of the most colourful and car crazy around – especially when a Briton takes the lead!

TRUE BRITS

There's nothing like watching a British driver take the winning flag at Silverstone. Recent British champions include Damon Hill in 1994 (right) and Johnny Herbert in 1995 (below). Last year proved a good one as well, with David Coulthard taking the winning flag.

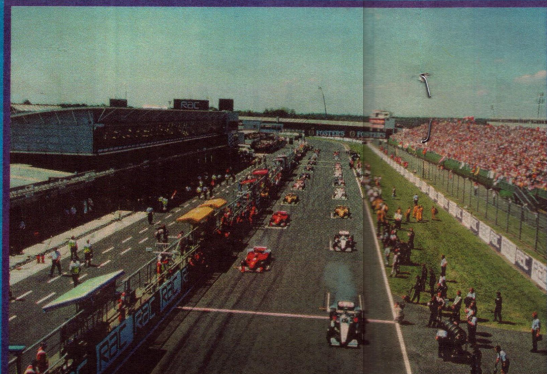

MANSELL POWER

The most memorable British winner is probably Nigel Mansell – the most successful British Formula One driver ever. Nigel raced from 1980 to 1995 entering 187 grand prix and winning 31. He won the British Grand Prix four times!

DRIVING TEST

The track at Silverstone is considered one of the most demanding on the grand prix circuit – testing both the cars' power and the drivers' handling ability. Watch out for Hanger Straight where the drivers reach speeds of 306kph before braking into Stowe corner. Other parts of the track to look out for are Club, Brooklands, Copse and Maggotts! During one lap at Silverstone, a driver will cover more than 5km in about one-and-a-half minutes!

MACHING HIS MARK

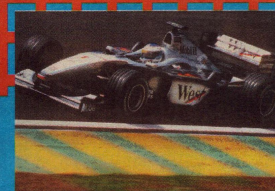

So far this season, Michael Schumacher has been leading the Formula One field with stylish grand prix wins in Brazil, Australia and San Marino. The German now leads the driver's championship by 21 points, putting his Ferrari team in pole position of the prestigious constructors' championship.

STARTING GRID Here's Funday's guide to the teams and drivers to watch out for – if you can keep up with them!

Michael Schumacher FERRARI
Michael had a disastrous British Grand Prix last year when his car hit a tyre wall, breaking his leg. That incident finished the brilliant German's season but expect no mistakes this year – he's been driving fantastically in the famous red Ferrari.

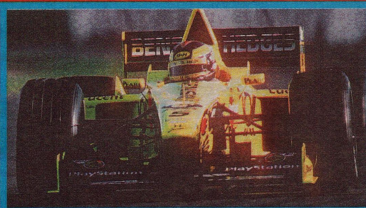

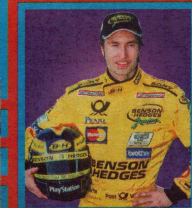

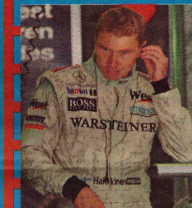

David Coulthard McLAREN

Disqualified in Brazil for an illegal front wing on his car, David has been suffering the same bad luck as his team-mate Mika. But rest assured, the determined Scot will be battling it out for pole position.

Mika Hakkinen McLAREN

The current world champion isn't enjoying a good season but the signs that he could soon hit top gear are there, if his car lasts the pace! The flying Finn claimed an impressive second place in San Marino.

Heinz-Harald Frentzen JORDAN

Heinz-Harald seems to be forever living in the shadow of his more famous fellow German, Michael Schumacher. Though joining Jordan could be the right move for him to re-establish himself as a driving force on the Formula One stage.

Jenson Button WILLIAMS

The youngest-ever driver to score a championship point, 20-year-old Jenson has the talent to get to the top. It's too early for him to win a British Grand Prix, but just imagine the reception if motor racing's Michael Owen does.

Eddie Irvine JAGUAR

One of Formula One's craziest characters, you either love or hate Eddie. After losing the drivers' championship by one point last year, he joined Jaguar. It will take time for things to work out but when it does expect the fireworks to fly again!

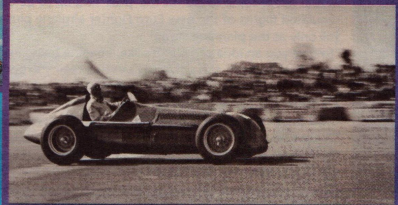

Giancarlo Fisichella BENETTON

Formula One wouldn't be the same without Italy. While Ferrari dominate the cars, the one driver who represents Italian flair is 27-year-old Giancarlo. This year could be the time for the exciting driver from Rome to really come of age.

TRACK HISTORY

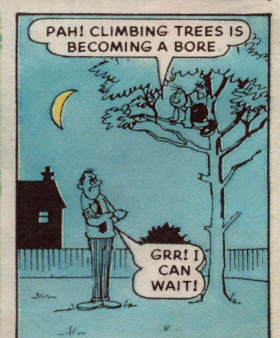

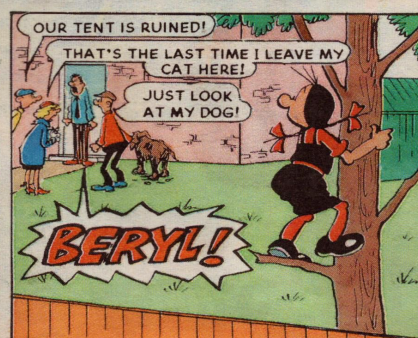

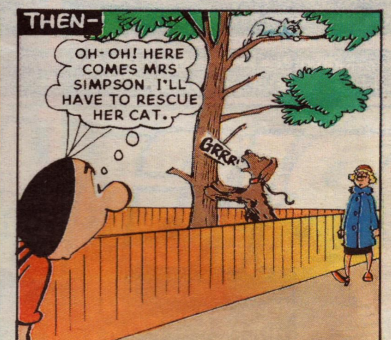

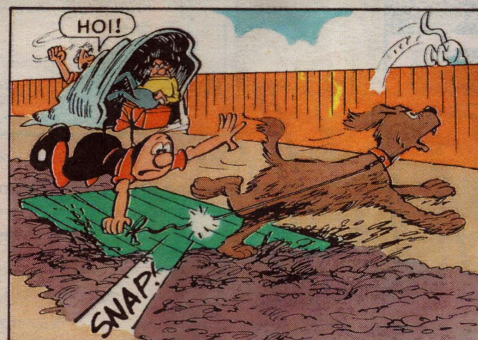

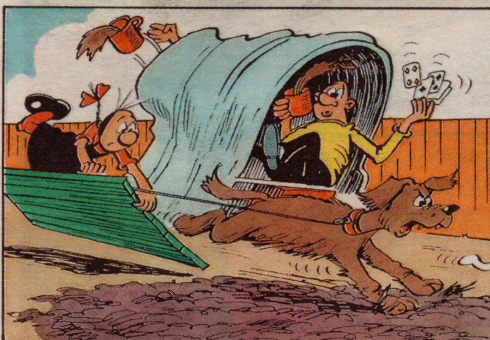

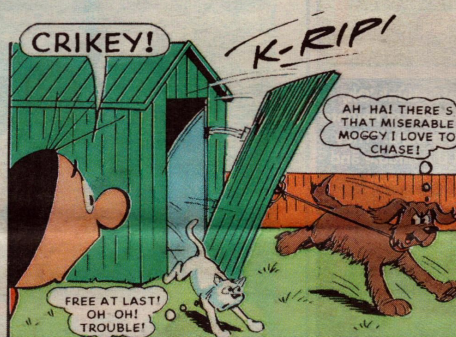

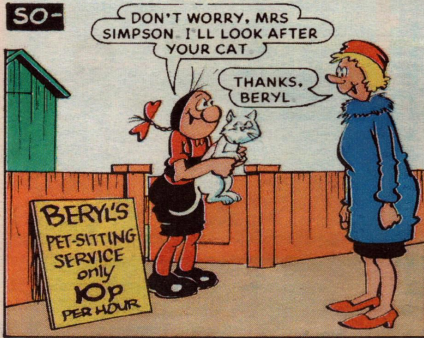

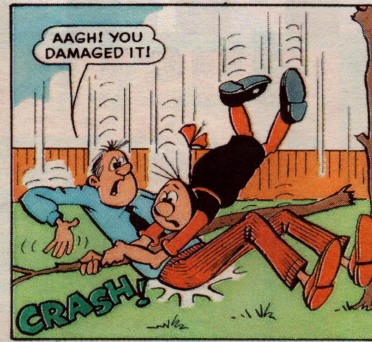

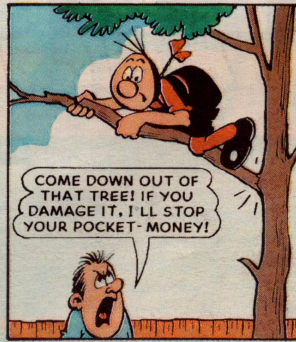

Silverstone is one of the world's greatest grand prix circuits. The track hosted the first modern-day grand prix back in 1950 (below). Since 1987, Silverstone has hosted the British Grand Prix every year. However, the race has also been held at Brands Hatch and even Aintree – the home of the Grand National horse race!

BERYL the PERIL

BERYL THE PERIL
APPEARS EVERY WEEK IN The DANDY

Pixie dust!

Before Kathryn Beaumont became a school teacher, she worked on one of the biggest animated films in history. Kathryn was chosen by Walt Disney to record the voice of Wendy in Disney's Peter Pan, which is on TV this Easter!

Kathryn Beaumont moved from England to Los Angeles while she was a schoolgirl, and the move proved to be a lucky one. Not long afterwards, her mother heard that Walt Disney was looking for a young girl to play the role of Wendy in Peter Pan. Because Peter Pan is an English story, "Walt wanted a British accent that would also be pleasing to American ears," Kathryn explains. "So, I read for the part and he said that my voice was the most suitable. I was just in awe when I found out that I was to play the part," she adds.

One of the biggest thrills for Kathryn is that she was included in the creative process. "I was brought into the storyboard readings, they would invite me in to listen," Kathryn says. "They figured I'd have better understanding of the character that way."

As well as recording Wendy's famous voice, Kathryn filmed the role too. "They wanted me to do what they called the live action, a reference for the animators that would help them draw the human figures in a more realistic way," she points out. This meant filming Kathryn moving around a very simple set – but it also meant flying!

"Most children probably think 'Oh, what fun!' but I had a fear of heights at the time," Kathryn groans. "They strapped me around the middle and attached me to a wire that was hanging from the ceiling!"

When she became a teacher, Kathryn's secret Hollywood past didn't stay secret for long. "For a while nobody had a clue, but during my second year of teaching a little girl came up one morning and asked me," Kathryn recalls. "She had gone to see the movie and said to her mother 'That's my teacher'. The mother said 'Of course it can't be', but the daughter decided to find out for sure, and then, of course, the whole class knew."

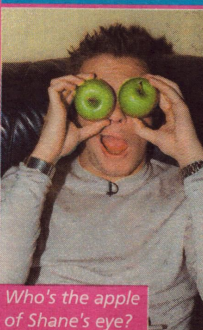

Peter Pan premieres on Disney Channel on Easter Sunday – catch it at 4pm

PICTURES: JAMIE HUGHES, GORDNEY

Westlife at the awards!

Westlife are having a double celebration! Not only did they enter the record books when Fool Again hit the number one spot, but they're also taking part in this year's Disney Channel Kids Awards. Funday asked the lads to fill us in.

Who's the apple of Shane's eye?

What do you think of the Disney Channel Kids Awards?

Kian: We're really excited about being spokespeople for the awards this year because the people who come to the awards and the roadshows are the same people who like Westlife. They supported us last year, and helped put us where we are today, so we're proud to be taking part again this year.

Did you win a Kids Award last year?

Bryan: No, we didn't win a thing. But it was the time of the first single so nobody really knew who we were then.

Which awards would you give to each other if you could?

Mark: Bryan would get an award for having the biggest hands in pop!

Nicky: Shane's got the shiniest shoes in the world.

Shane: Kian should be awarded for doing his hair so carefully!

Nicky: And an award for getting it the same every day!

You're trying to crack America, how is it going?

Nicky: Boyzone never succeeded in America, Take That never did it, but we reckon we can. Everything is in place. Now we're on MTV in America, and they're lining up all the really big chat shows for us. When people back home see that, they're not going to believe it.

Is it true that you're planning to record with Mariah Carey?

Nicky: We met Mariah at the American Music Awards in Los Angeles. We were chatting to her for 20 minutes and the organisers were trying to move her on. And she was like, "No, no, I'm talking to Westlife!" Then she says "You know guys, we really need to hook up and do a song sometime" and at this stage our jaws hit the floor! It's just not real.

And as we now know, the lads plan to tour the UK

next year and have also started work writing songs for their second album. Bryan reveals that one of the songs is called

That's Life.

Kids Awards alert! Funday goes behind the scenes with Westlife at the Disney Channel studio next week.

BIG WIN!

We've got a giant prize – and that's a cast-iron guarantee!

The Iron Giant is released on video and DVD tomorrow and Funday has teamed up with Warner Home Video and AOL to give away some great prizes

Hogarth Hughes, a boy who lives in a quiet 1950s town with his mum, secretly befriends a giant robot.

When a government agent tries to track down the huge metal-munching machine Hogarth has a major problem. How do you hide an iron giant?

It's a brilliant movie that features the voices of Friends star Jennifer Aniston and Harry Connick Jr.

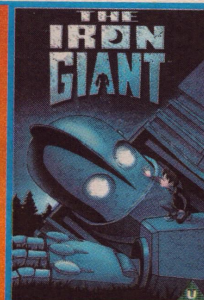

Our winner gets a fabulous Carrera PC with the latest DVD-Rom drive, plus a copy of The Iron Giant on DVD. They also get a year's internet subscription with AOL – the world's biggest on-line service.

Plus, three runners-up get the video and a year's subscription to AOL.

To enter, tell us the scientific symbol for iron.

Mark your answer GIANT and send it, with your name, age and address, to the competition address on page 3.

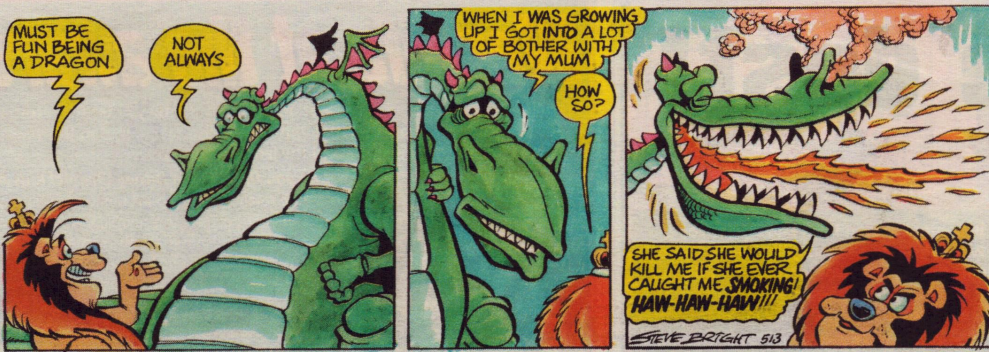

To order your free AOL disk, just call 0800 376 5432

News from the Disney Channel Kids Awards launch party next week!

EXTREME

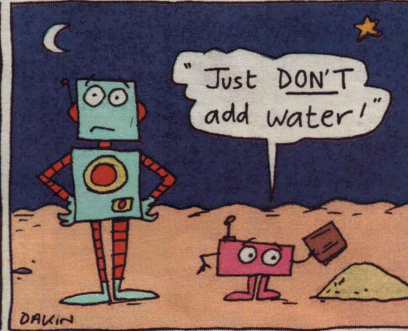

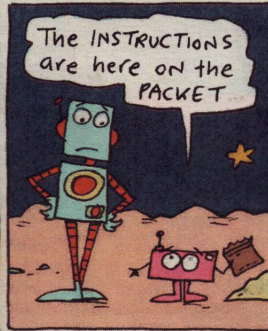

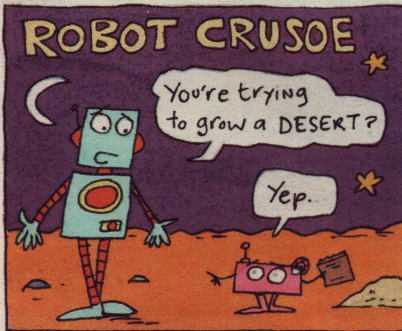

NEXT WEEK in FUNDAY

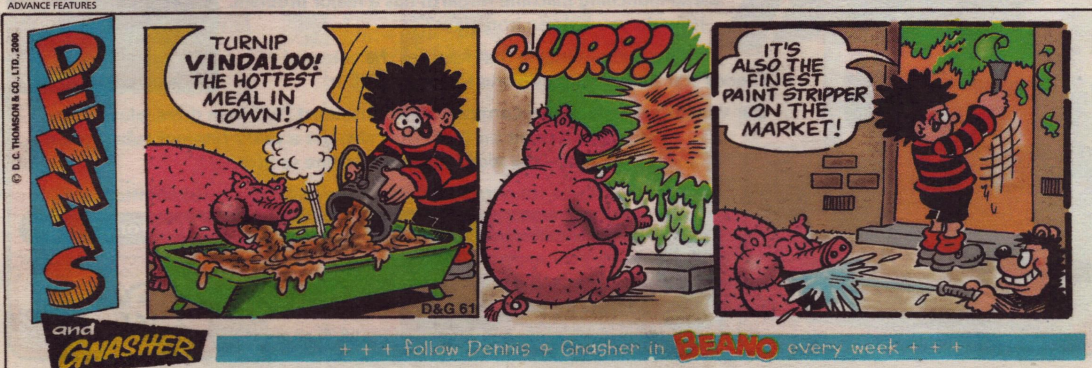

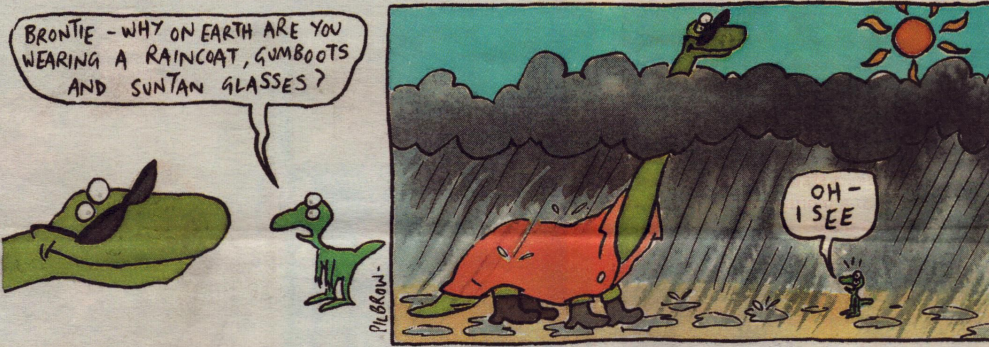

Funday gives you an exclusive peek at the Natural History Museum's new hands-on exhibition called Investigate

We get all the gossip from the stars at the launch of the Disney Channel Kids Awards

Britney returns to Buzz with her brand-new single Oops! ... I Did It Again

SQUID

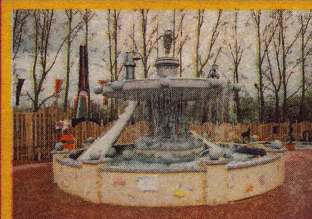

+++ follow Dennis + Gnasher in BEANO every week +++

Welcome to Beanoland!

Funday favourite Dennis the Menace has come to life at Chessington World of Adventures and you can join him for some fun! Chris Smith samples the rides, stunts and surprises of Chessington's latest attraction – Beanoland.

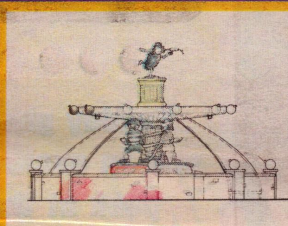

1 It has taken 100 experts more than three years to bring Dennis the Menace and the Beano gang to life, and now, at Chessington World of Adventures, you can come face to face with them all at Beanoland! Plus, as well as meeting Dennis, Softy Walter and Minnie the Minx you can watch their Beano cartoon strips come alive in hilarious live-action shows!

2 The shows each include a breathtaking stunt as part of the menacing mayhem, which require careful planning. But as show producer Rusty Rustad says, it hasn't all been hard work! "Before we even started, we spent several weeks reading loads of Beano comics which was great fun and gave us plenty of ideas!" he chuckles

3 Rusty reveals that one of the shows, called Dennis's Fountain of Mischief, has a watery ending that required some intricate effects. "Dennis and Minnie have been told to clean it, because it's covered in something very yucky," he explains. "The fountain includes a statue of Gnasher and was built as a monument to menacing."

"We started with some drawings and then built it in stages because it is a bit special," Rusty adds. "But, something goes wrong and Dennis is carried into the air by a giant jet of water! It's my favourite of all the shows because it really makes me laugh."

4 Rusty says that it took a lot of work to create each stunt. "Dennis and the others had to train for three weeks, non-stop. It looks like fun, but it's actually hard work and they'll be performing up to 14 shows a day – that's a lot of menacing!"

5 The fun isn't confined to the shows though – there are plenty of rides on which you can create some mayhem of your own – like Roger the Dodger's dodgems. In true Beano style, you climb aboard for lots of loud noise, plus plenty of bumps and spills

6 Visitors can also take a ride on Billy Whizzer's waveswinger, but beware! Dennis has been at work, so all is not quite what it seems. As the chairs go round on the 7.5m-high ride, the central column tilts and if you're not careful you might even get your feet wet!

Mark Shaw, who helped plan the new Beanoland, confesses to being one of Dennis's biggest fan. "I used to compete with my brother to see who had the biggest pile of Beano comics and I'm even a member of the Dennis the Menace Fan Club!" he admits.

7 Dennis has a few surprises in store for unsuspecting visitors, as Mark has discovered. "I thought I knew the rides inside out but the last time I went round, Dennis changed a couple of things around and I got splatted. I've definitely been menaced!" he groans.

To book tickets for Chessington, call 0870 444 7777 or visit the website at www.chessington.com

THE FUNDAY TIMES sport

Michelle Kwan

Ice skater Michelle Kwan is celebrating after becoming world champion for the third time. Skating in France, Michelle fought off a strong challenge from Russian rivals Irina Slutskaya and Maria Butyrskaya to take the gold medal with a brilliant performance in her free programme. At the age of just 19, she is already one of ice skating's all-time greats, so here's our guide to one of sport's brightest young stars.

- Michelle's middle name is Wing, and her nickname is Shelly
- She comes from the town of Torrance, in the American state of California
- To help put together her intricate routines, Michelle works with top choreographer Lori Nichol
- She has won a host of awards, including the Skater of the Year title when she was just 14
- Michelle's advice to young skaters is simple: "Work hard, be yourself and have fun."

sport news

He's a gem

Ruby Walsh became one of horseracing's best-known jockeys overnight when he won the Grand National at Aintree. Ruby, from Ireland, produced a sparkling performance on Papillon to snatch victory in the world's most famous race. What's more, all 40 horses survived the gruelling race.

Wembley awaits

This year's FA Cup final will be between Aston Villa and Chelsea. One week after Villa won through on penalties, Chelsea beat Newcastle United 2-1 in the other semi-final, to set up a clash between two of England's in-form sides. Chelsea's victory owed a lot to Uruguayan star Gustavo Poyet, who scored both of the Blues' goals.

Cronje under fire

South African cricket captain Hansie Cronje has been sacked, after being branded a cheat. Hansie, regarded as one of the sport's most dedicated players, denies match-fixing allegations but was dismissed after he admitted being "dishonest" with his employers. Shaun Pollock takes over as captain and Dave Callaghan replaces Cronje in the squad.

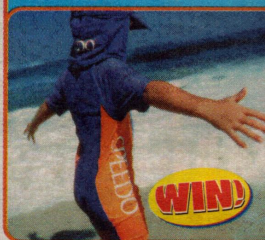

SUN SMART

These high-tech scuba suits are ideal if you want to have safe fun in the sun!

Speedo's Year 2000 sun protection range is designed to shield you from up to 98% of the sun's harmful ultraviolet rays while you're playing on the beach, swimming or surfing!

You can choose between scuba suits, a rash vest and matching shorts plus a great shade cap - and they're all available in funky colours.

We've got 20 sun protection scuba suits to give away.

To enter, name the famous surfing beach in Sydney, Australia.

Mark your entry SPEEDO and send it, with your name, age and address, to the competition address on page 3.

Fans ut d
THE PE TEACHER
HEARD SIMON SAY THAT
HOCKEY WAS FOR CISSIES

SO WHAT DID
SHE DO?

